Professional Summary

Motivated and dedicated .NET Developer based in Stockholm, Sweden, with a background in business, logistics, and technology. I'm currently studying at KYH to strengthen my skills across the full .NET stack. I have a strong eye for UI/UX and clean architecture, and I enjoy building websites that are both functional and well-designed. As a married professional with strong social skills, I work well in teams, communicate clearly, and enjoy solving real-world problems with scalable, maintainable solutions.
